Founder's Message

From Possibility to Sustainability

At NeevJivan Foundation, we believe that true development of the country begins when opportunity reaches the last mile and transforms into sustainable livelihoods. FY 2025-26 has been a year of remarkable growth, deeper impact, and renewed conviction in this belief.

Over the past year, we expanded our footprint across tribal and rural communities, empowering more than 2,460 beneficiaries through skill development, vocational training, and setup 77 micro-enterprises. As on date we support 166 micro-enterprises across 100+ villages, creating pathways to income, dignity, and self-reliance. These enterprises collectively generated over ₹55 lakh in sales, demonstrating the immense potential that exists when communities are provided with the right skills, resources, and market access.

While these numbers are encouraging, the true measure of our success lies in the stories behind them—the woman who started earning independently for the first time, the family that found financial stability through a micro-enterprise, and the village that discovered the power of collective entrepreneurship. Every livelihood created represents a step towards reducing poverty and building resilient communities.

FY 2025-26 was also a year of strengthening our institution. We expanded partnerships, improved governance, automated key processes, enhanced donor engagement, and sharpened our focus on impact and sustainability. These investments have prepared us for the next phase of growth.

As we look ahead to FY 2026-27, our priority is clear- to transform livelihoods into sustainable enterprises. While we will continue creating new opportunities, our focus will be on helping existing women entrepreneurs grow stronger businesses through market linkages, government convergence, capacity building, and access to growth capital. We aspire to create a new generation of rural women entrepreneurs who are not only self-reliant but capable of becoming employers, leaders, and role models within their communities.

The journey from livelihood to prosperity is not built in a year—it is built through consistent effort, strong partnerships, and unwavering belief in people's potential. We remain deeply grateful to our donors, partners, board members, and dedicated team for walking this journey with us.

Together, we are not just creating livelihoods; we are building futures.

STORY 01 OF 13

Sujal Mahila Bachat Gath

Dahanu • Poultry Farm

Homemakers to business owners.

"We had never imagined that we could run a business of our own. The training, guidance, and funds provided by NeevJivan gave us the confidence to start our Poultry Farm in our village.

Today, our farm has grown manifolds, we maintain accounts, interact with customers, and make business decisions independently.

The journey has transformed not only our income but also our self-belief."

OUR CORE IDENTITY

OUR CORE IDENTITY

Our Vision

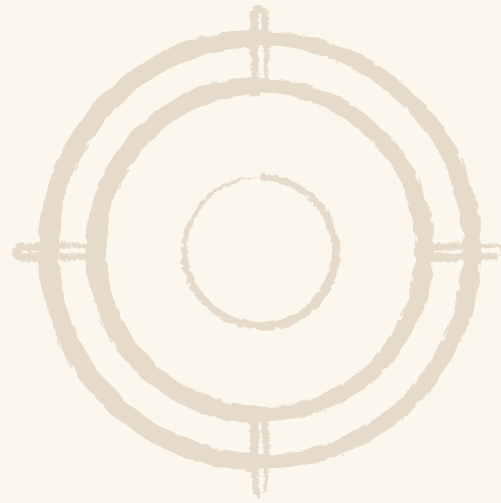

Create opportunities for sustainable livelihood and employment for every citizen in order to reduce the asymmetry of income among them in the long run.

Imagine the transformative power of one women-led micro-business in each of 6,39,902 villages in India. Beyond achieving financial independence for herself, every woman entrepreneur has the potential to become a catalyst for inclusive economic growth—creating livelihoods, generating employment, and inspiring new opportunities for other members of her community.

While NeevJivan Foundation may ignite this journey, our ultimate vision is for women to lead the movement themselves—supporting, mentoring, and empowering one another until this wave of entrepreneurship and self-reliance transforms every village across the nation.

Our Mission

To create alternate sources of income (other than agriculture) and opportunities of sustainable livelihood for the tribal community in their villages so that they do not have to migrate to the cities in search of better opportunities.

For generations, migration has been accepted as the path to survival for the tribal communities we serve. Having worked closely with the community, we realised that this is not just an economic reality—it is a deeply rooted mindset passed down through generations.

Lasting change therefore requires more than just creating opportunities of livelihood; it requires changing beliefs - the belief that the micro-enterprises we help establish are more than an income opportunity—it is a symbol of self-reliance, dignity, identity, and hope.

By enabling families to earn sustainably within their villages, we are helping them choose opportunity over migration and build a more secure future for generations to come.

OUR CORE IDENTITY

Our Values

Who we are and what we stand for form the core of our business. At NeevJivan Foundation, we embrace these values and ensure every aspect of our work is governed by them.

Simplicity

Clear, practical solutions that meet communities where they are — no unnecessary complexity in how we design or deliver support.

Transparency

Open, honest communication with beneficiaries, partners and donors at every stage of the journey.

Trust

Built through consistent action, follow-through, and respect — the foundation of every lasting relationship we hold.

The respect we have earned has transformed not only our livelihoods but also our confidence, identity, and place within the community."

STORY 04 OF 13

Jaswanti Mahila Bachat Gath

Dahanu • Vermi-compost

Homemakers to business owners.

"Two years ago, we started our vermi-compost making business with determination to succeed. Today, we are proud entrepreneurs who not only produce quality compost but also find our own customers and grow our business independently.

Every sale has strengthened our confidence. This enterprise has taught us that when women take ownership of their dreams, they can create opportunities, respect, and a brighter future for their families."

WHAT WE BRING TO THE TABLE

Identification of SHGs with the entrepreneurial mindset

Mobilisation through Strategic Government Partnerships

Identifying women with the right entrepreneurial intent has always been one of the biggest challenges in creating sustainable micro-enterprises. To address this, we have partnered with Maharashtra State Rural Livelihood Mission (MSRLM) and Mahila Arthik Vikas Mahamandal (MAVIM), leveraging their extensive network of Self-Help Groups. This collaboration provides access to genuine, community-based SHGs and enables us to mobilise motivated women with the greatest potential to become successful entrepreneurs.

Stringent Assessment Process

Entrepreneurial intent, commitment, and teamwork are often stronger indicators of success than technical skills alone. Therefore, every SHG undergoes a rigorous assessment after completing our 10-day Entrepreneurship Development Programme. Through observations, practical exercises, group activities, and structured evaluations, we identify groups that demonstrate leadership, ownership, resilience, and a genuine commitment to building a business, ensuring that our support is invested in entrepreneurs with the highest potential for long-term success.

OWNERSHIP

OUR APPROACH

Our 5-Step Approach

Technical Training on Vocation of choice

We collaborate with our knowledge partner, Krishi Vigyan Kendra, to identify and deliver training in vocations that are market-driven, commercially viable, and aligned with local demand, ensuring that every enterprise has the potential to become a sustainable source of livelihood.

Module on Entrepreneurship Skills

Since a majority of our beneficiaries have limited formal education, our 10-day Entrepreneurship Development Programme is built on the principle of 'learning by doing.' We use case studies, group discussions, customer interactions, role plays, simulations, and interactive games to teach the fundamentals of business. This experiential approach transforms complex entrepreneurial concepts into relatable experiences, empowering them with confidence and skills needed to manage their micro enterprises.

Facilitate Access to Seed Capital

We believe that access to capital should never stand in the way of entrepreneurship. By leveraging government schemes, CSR funding, and institutional finance, we unlock the seed capital women need to transform their aspirations into thriving micro-enterprises. Beyond creating sustainable livelihoods, this investment empowers them to become financially independent and break the cycle of poverty for generations to come.

Setting Up the Shop Floor

We don't just help women start businesses—we help them build enterprises. Through comprehensive incubation support, we provide technical expertise, facilitating access to machinery and raw materials, branding and packaging, ensuring regulatory compliance, and preparing them for the market. This holistic approach transforms aspirations into resilient enterprises that generate sustainable incomes and create lasting economic independence for women and their families.

Stabilise Operations & Market Linkage

We recognise that the long-term success of a micro-enterprise depends not only on production but also on consistent access to markets. Since inadequate market linkages are one of the primary reasons rural businesses fail, we provide extensive support through e-commerce platforms, corporate partnerships, exhibitions, retail channels, and local distribution networks, helping women transform their products into sustainable sources of income.

Financial Independence

"Being the first women in our village to start a pig farm was a bold step. Today, it has become a successful business that provides a steady source of income for our families.

For the first time, we are contributing financially at home, making decisions with confidence, and experiencing the pride that comes with true financial independence."

SUSTAINABILITY

OF MICRO-BUSINESSES

A MORE FOCUSED APPROACH

Sustainability of Micro-Businesses

The long-term success and sustainability of every livelihood projects is our responsibility. With the growing number of micro businesses, the focus naturally shifts to their sustainability and their ability to generate income for the beneficiaries in the long run.

We realise that each of these micro-enterprises are at different stages of maturity and are dealing with unique opportunities and challenges depending on the chosen vocation, dynamics within the group and more. To provide focused guidance, timely interventions, and efficient utilization of our resources, it is essential to adopt a differentiated approach to the support rendered to them.

Accordingly, we have classified all the micro-enterprises into three categories, namely, Udaan, Pragati and Araambh using a structured assessment framework based on scores derived from 8 key evaluation parameters.

The differential intervention by NeevJivan Foundation is based on the category the micro-enterprise falls in. This helps us in optimising our resources and support them to ensure their long term sustainability.
